2010 FIH WORLD CUP MEN'S HOCKEY LIVE AND ONLY ON FOX SPORTS

FOX SPORTS will cover all the World Cup action as twelve of the world's best hockey nations gather in India to compete in the 2010 FIH World Cup.

The FIH World Cup men's hockey tournament will this year be hosted by India from the Major Dhyan Chand National Stadium in New Delhi and FOX SPORTS will feature LIVE coverage throughout the two-week event.

The host nation will be joined by the best hockey nations from around the globe; including Champions Trophy holders Australia, Canada, England, Germany, Netherlands, New Zealand, Pakistan, Republic of Korea, South Africa and Spain.

The tournament swings into action this Sunday February 28, 2010 as South Africa take on the 2006 World Cup bronze medallist Spain. The match will be broadcast LIVE on FOX SPORTS 3HD and FOX SPORTS 3 at 10.00pm AEDST.

The tournament promises to be an exciting campaign for Australian hockey fans with the Kookaburras looking to go one better after finishing with the silver medal at the past two World Cups.

Currently ranked number 2 in the world, the Kookaburras recently took on the number one team, Germany, in the Final of the 2009 Champions Trophy which saw the Aussies take home the gold medal.

Australia will open their 2010 World Cup campaign against England on Monday 1 March in a LIVE broadcast on FOX SPORTS 3HD and FOX SPORTS 3 at 12.00am AEDST.

Coverage of the 2010 FIH World Cup is exclusive to FOX SPORTS for FOXTEL and AUSTAR subscribers including LIVE coverage of the Final on Saturday 13 March at 11.30pm AEDST on FOX SPORTS 2HD and FOX SPORTS 2.

Fans can stay in touch with the latest news and results during the tournament on foxsports.com.au and the FOX SPORTS News channel.
